

Spinal Fusion Recovery

Workout 1 of 4: Full Body Circuit | Beginner | 15 min warm-up + 30 min workout + 15 min abs

LEVEL	TIME	FOR	EQUIPMENT
Beginner	60 minutes	Spinal fusion recovery	Sturdy chair, light resistance band, light dumbbells (1-5 lb), mat

Workout 1 of 4: Full Body Circuit. After spinal fusion, getting strong again takes time and patience. This program is for people cleared by their surgeon for general strengthening. It keeps your spine still and neutral, with no bending, lifting heavy or twisting, and builds the hips, legs and deep core that support it. Work at about 3-4 out of 10 effort.

Before you start

- Only start once your surgeon has cleared you for this level of exercise, and follow every restriction they gave you.
- If you had surgery, follow your surgeon's and physical therapist's protocol and timelines. They come first.
- Mild discomfort (3 out of 10 or less) that settles within a day is OK. Sharp pain means stop that move.
- Remember BLT: no Bending, Lifting heavy or Twisting through your spine until cleared.

Stop right away and get help if you feel

- Sharp back pain, or pain that shoots down a leg
- New or worsening numbness, tingling or weakness in a leg or foot
- Loss of bladder or bowel control, or numbness in the groin (call 911)
- Pain that is clearly worse the next day
- Fever, redness or drainage at your incision

This workout is general fitness guidance from Conquer Boxing Fitness & Health and is not medical advice. It does not replace care from your doctor. Always follow your healthcare provider's instructions about exercise, and stop any movement that causes pain.
